My Feet Issue

Read carefully,
I shall write this only once.

Ah, at last we are alone. Yeah, yeah, I know, the last issue was a bitch. Don't feel left out if it took forever to get your copy. I had no money. Gone are the days of the YMCA handing me stamps by the roll and money by the handful. I've diligently avoided the dreaded "job" but it becomes harder and harder to support my zining habit. Take my advice and avoid becoming a zine-maker at all costs. It destroys families, drives away friends, and yes, could even kill you. Symptoms for the zine sickness are bloodshot eyes, strange interest in photos and Xerox machines, and large amounts of in and out mail. If these symptoms apply to a friend or yourself, seek help!

AIMLESS MEANDERINGS

Once upon a time there was a dog named Bill. Bill frolicked among the streets of a happy town called Spiveyville. He lived there in the woods around the town with his friend Dave, the raccoon. Bill and Dave ran through the woods and streets of Spiveyville biting children and ripping trashbags apart. One day as they played in a flower garden they heard a strange, interesting sound from the bush

The fierce battle finally ended in a bloody pool, and as Bill pulled the last few strips of meat from Dave's carcass, the crazed thoughts of a maddog rose to his eyes. Leaving a trail of froth as he went, Bill ran toward the lights of town at full sprint, destined to bestow his wrath on the unsuspecting Spiveyville. A rabid wrath that would live on in its people's memories forever.

FILE # FIVE

Name: LARRY ? Age: ?
 Eyes: Blue Hair: Brown
 Height: 4'11" Weight: 300 lbs
 Distinguishing Marks: Blood on chin.
 Wanted for: Harrassment and exploitation of skaters.

After well over a year of intensive research by the P.S. staff, we can now Finalize the investigation and present the startling facts to you. The controversy over skate harrassment heightened to a peak lately yet the source and person responsible LARRY has amazingly continued to dodge the spotlight. So beware, he has tired of closing parks and has set his sights on your streets and even your backyards. The final frontiers of skating. We hope that this information pamphlet might possibly bring him into the open with the help of the skaters and put an end to his mischief.

Shortly after this photo was taken, this 4x4' sign was placed above an elementary school playground.
 What affect this scare-tactic propaganda will have at that early age will take years to determine.

This is a rare photo of LARRY himself searching through the ceiling panels of a local building for hoodlum skaters. Moments after this shot was taken the skater/photographer was pummeled, but luckily the film was left intact.

and to his mischievous.

LARRY'S resemblance to Charlie Brown is striking. If he actually had been Charlie as a child, Charlie's traumatic childhood of rejection would explain LARRY'S neurosis.

Similarities:

1. Large head.
2. Short and fat.
3. Three fingers.
4. Blank stare.
5. Blood on chin.
hair disguise.

6 These remains of a Pre-Mesozoic statue offer proof that LARRY was worshipped as a type of god well before skating existed 2000 years ago. Amazing coincidence or Fiendish plot to destroy skating through tampering with time? Decide for yourself.

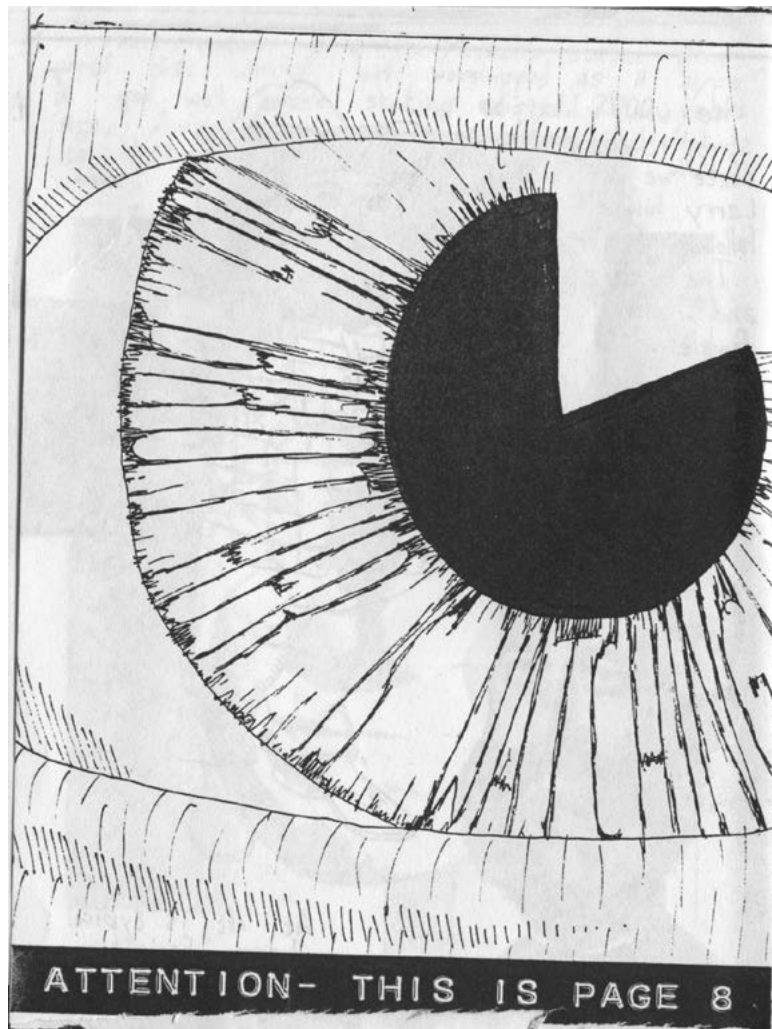

END TO HIS MISCHIEF.

7 We would like to stress that the "anti-skate" we portray is Larry himself, not his followers (Larryites).

They take all shapes and colors, even females. In this region, hicks (right) make up most of the Larryite population.

These last two months I've been so busy travelling & such to do a zine full of articles, so in printing all the photos this issue that have deserved printing but space hadn't been found. So now in singling out a page for a great Palestine local, and pretty good friend o'mine - Peyton Love

VERB

Skipping was a man.
 His brother was Running.
 He had style.
 While taking up space,
 A road was constructed.
 Through a hole in Skipping's jeans
 "Gee", was the correct response.
 What a novel idea.
 A chance was taken.
 A base was stolen.
 While Running was actually Sleeping.
 And Ranting was just Finishing.
 Maybe a test. - Scott
